Horrible Holocaust in Michigan.

The Long Series of Awful Train Wrecks Increased.

Hend to Head Collision on the Grand Trunk Road-Cars Telescoped Upon Their Occupants-The Responsible Parties.

By Telegraph to The Times. BATTLE CREEK (Mich.) Oct. 20.-(By the Associated Press.) The error of one human being, one man who crouches affrighted in a prison cell tonight, led to the greatest railroad holocaust in the history of Michigan today. Twenty-six human lives paid the penalty of a moment's negligence. Two trains, both laden with passengers, met in a direct head-end collision or the Grand Trunk Railroad at 3:45 o'clock this morning, in the suburbs of this city, and that the number of dead and injured is not four-fold greater, is due to the circumstance that the collision occurred in the sub urbs of this city, where trains slacken

Twenty-six charred, disfigured and unrecognizable bodies lie in the morgue tonight, and twenty-seven charred and bleeding victims are groaning in agony in the Charity Hospital, How many of these wounded may be in the deathlist tomorrow none can tell, for the injuries in many cases are quite unfath-omable to the medical examination that is possible now. All that surgical science can do is being done, and the officials of the railroad are doing all possible to alleviate the conditions of the victims of the dreadful disaster.

The two trains met face to face. Both were regular trains, although each was considerably behind time.
One was the Raymond & Whitcomb special train, returning from the World's Fair, and the other was the regular Pacific express, westbound. The engineer of the Raymond & Whit-comb train had positive orders to side-track for the expres at the siding, a mile east of this city. He ignored or ders, and 600 feet beyond the siding he met the eastbound train full on. Both trains were wrecked, and half the train of the Pacific express was denolished and burned.

The Raymond & Whitcomb train being composed almost entirely of heavy sleepers, escaped serious injury, and none of the excursionists lost their The engineers and firemen of both trains jumped in time, but twen-ty-six passengers of the Pacific ex-press met almost instant death. The

this city. Engineer Henry Wooley was pulling it, and there appears to be no doubt that Engineer Wooley's negno doubt that Engineer Wooley's negligence was the cause of the accident. The conductor and engineer received orders here to meet the Pacific express at Nichols. Engineer Wooley got orders at Battle Creek, and, getting beyond the stretch of double track, kept right ahead at a rattling nace.

He met the Pacific express half a mile or less below the meeting point made for him. The express was coming at the rate of thirty miles an hour. From Nichols, the curve be-gins so that it is impossible for either engineer to see the other until the headlights have appeared. They had scarcely time to reverse, apply the air-brakes and save themselves as best they could, when head-on the engines together. The Raymond & Whitcomb train stood the shock without more than a shudder, excepting the baggage-car at the head-end, which had a front stove. None of the passengers on the train were injured beyond a severe shaking-up. On the other train all the horror was experienced. The frail day coaches be-hind the baggage-car went to splinters. The train was made up of thirteen coaches, and the first four of them were coaches, and the first four of them were telescoped. The passengers were caught in their seats and the general mass of rulns, and, to add to their misery, burning lamps exploded, and in a moment the four cars were a sheet of flames. The Battle Creek fire department did heroic work. They received an alarm five minutes after the accident. accident.

The horses could not be driven be tween the cars on account of the flames, so a rope was hitched to the chemical engine and it was hauled by hand into position, and the rear sleeper, Sabrina, was saved. The firemen took out everybody and practically cleared away the debris. The third coach of the express left its trucks and plowed right through the second, scraping all right through the second, scraping an seats and passengers along with it, and depositing them in a heap in the north end of the car, where most of the bodies were found. The bodies were loaded on a flatcar and taken to Battle Creek station. They were conveyed into Ranger & Early's undertaking rooms, where a morgue was extemporized, and everything done to relieve the remains of their ghastly appearance.

The scene at the morgue appalled the stoutest hearts. The dead were ranged along the side of a dark basement which was illuminated by a fee-ble, flickering jet. Not a shred of clothing was left upon them, and the remains were so mangled and disfigured that they resembled nothing but ancient mummles that might have been disfigured before death. The best preserved corpse was that of a boy about 12 years old. A fringe of hair of a reddish hue was left about the ears and skull. The upper part of the head was gone, consumed by flames. A por-tion of the brain protruded, and was of a white-yellowish color. They were lit-

Albert Bradley is next of the most seriously injured, but he is expected to recover. The rest of the patients are all reported comfortable and out of danger at midnight. Friends and relatives of some of the dead and injured arrived here tonight, and the remains of the unfortunates will be taken to their homes for burial as soon as permission is given by the W. E. Compromise Unfinished.

Efforts Made to Dodge the Bond Proposition.

The Matter of Repeal Will Be Delayed.

Quay's Amendment Now Under Consideration.

The Senate Confirms the Appointment of Va Alen-An Emergency Appropriation Bill Passed by the House

Other Legislation.

By Telegraph to The Times. WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—(By the As-ociated Press.) It looked at 4 o'clock today as if the terms of the Democratic ompromise on the repeal bill had been settled. At 5 o'clock, however, it be came apparent that there was an obstacle in the way of bringing the mat-ter to a climax. There was a disagreement over the bond feature and also over the time at which the repeal of the Sherman act should take effect. It appears that the administration members of the Democratic steering committee discovered when these points were reached that they could not accept them as provided in the document. It is considered probable that they made an effort to have the time for the expiration of the Sherman law fixed at the 1st of July, 1894, instead of January 1, 1895. It is asserted that the treasury of ficials said that if the purchase of silver bullion should cease by July, next year, it would be possible to get along without action upon the bond question, and as some of the staunchest repeal Democrats are opposed to the bond proposition, it is probable that the ef-fort tonight was in the direction of reducing the time of the future existence of the present law and the elim ination of the bond proposition. Alto gether the conference ended with-out reaching any agreement, but with the understanding that another effort will be made, probably tomorrow. Some silver Democrats said that, if the steering committee did not reach a conclusion by Monday, they would join with the Republicans and pass Senator Quay's amendment, which ex-tends the Sherman law until January, 1896, or a year longer than the best that is offered to the silver men by the Democratic bill. On the other hand, Senator Hill says that he has already received assurance of a large vote for his proposed cloture resolution on the Democratic side, as soon as it becomes apparent that the steering committee cannot agree. Later.-Tonight there appears exellent reason for saying that, before the middle of next week, the repeal bill will pass the Senate, to take effect not later than the last of October 1894, probably with a provision authorizing the Secretary of the Treasury to issue bonds not exceeding $200,000,-000, and to coin the seignorage now in the treasury. This, it is said, would not be considered a surrender by the administration.

FIFTY-THIRD CONGRESS.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—(By the Asociated Press.) SENATE.—Senator Voorhees gave notice of an amendment to the rules to the effect that when bill or resolution, pending as unfinished business, shall have been debated for thirty days, any Senator may move to fix a time for taking a vote thereon. Such notice shall not be amendable nor debatable, and, if the sed, the pending bill, or resolution, shall be voted on at the time fixed. Senator Morgan, by request, intro-duced a bill to facilitate the collection of debts payable to the United States from government-aided railroads, and to enforce the accountability of the di-rectors of said companies.

The Senate went into executive ses sion to consider noninations, chiefly those to which there were objections. The general impression was that the executive session was for the purpose of allowing time to arrange the terms of a compromise bill.

The Senate confirmed the nomination of Mr. Van Alen, to be Minister to Italy, by a vote of 39 to 22.

After the executive session the House bill to suspend for the year 1893 the law requiring $100 worth of labor to be expended, or improvements made, on each mining claim, was passed, after an amendment excluding corporations from its benefits. A conference was asked on the amendment.

The repeal bill was then taken up, and Senator Peffer of Kansas offered a free-coinage amendment. With some exceptions, it revives the law of 1837. Senator Peffer then resumed his speech against the bill, and proceeded until 5 o'clock, when, upon the motion of Senator Faulkner, the Senate took a an emergency deficiency bill appropriat-ing $127,500 for custodians and janitors of public buildings, and $200,000 clerks to members. It was passed.

The bill to compel the railroads to maintain stations at town sites in the Cherokee Strip, as established by the Interior Department, was taken up, and, after a heated discussion between Representatives Simpson and Curtis, both of Kansas, it passed. Chairman Pendleton, from the Com-mittee on Private Land Claims, then called up the famous McGarrahan claim. The morning hour expired before a quorum could be secured.

In the second morning hour Representative Bynum called up the bill to pressed. The rebels have yielded.

Representatives McMillan of Tennessee and Dalzell of Pennsylvania warmly supported the resolution. After further debate Representative Caminetti offered an amendment, which was adopted, extending the provisions of the act to such exhibits as may be transferred to the Midwinter Exposition at San Francisco.

Representative Aldrich offered an amendment, which was adopted, releasing entirely from duty such por-remit 50 per cent. of the duties due on exhibits at the World's Fair. Repre-sentative Dingley opposed it. Repre-sentative Bynum offered an amend-ment, which was adopted, providing that the act shall not apply to articles sold or contracted for before its pass-leasing entirely from duty such por-tions of the exhibits as were purchased for or donated to the Columbian Museum at Chicago. As amended, the resolution then passed without divi-

Consideration of the printing bill was resumed, and Representative Beltz-hoover of Pennsylvania advocated an amendment to take printing for the executive departments away from the government printing office and let it out to private contractors. Without action, the House adjourned.

The Senator thinks President Cleveland will consent to a compromise on the lines now being discussed if the power is given the administration to issue bonds to purchase gold to keep the reserve up to a proper minimum, and this provision is likely to be inserted in the compromise. He believes there will be a change in the Senate rules after the bill is acted upon, limiting debate and making it possible to have an immediate vote on

By Telegraph to The Times. CHICAGO, Oct. 20.—(By the Associated Press.) The weather was threat ening all day, but cleared toward evening, and promises to be fine to-morrow for Manhattan day at the World's Fair. Clouds and a few raindrops had little effect on the attendtoday, as a total of 285,393 passed through the gates, 246,844 of them pay-

The Times-Star Scores Mr. Dana-Retarding Progress by Revamping Ancient Oc-currences-Western Journals Will Fight

By Telegraph to The Times CINCINNATI, Oct. 20 .- (By the Associated Press.) The Times-Star, Charles P. Taft, proprietor, prints an editorial on Associated Press matters, in which he referred to a recent publication in the New York Sun purporting to be an account of a transaction in 1882 by which the Chicago News obtained a morning franchise in the Associated Press. The editorial says, in part: "The purpose of the Sun's article is to cast some reflection upon Mr. Lawson and Mr. Stone, who are just now prominent in the management of the Associated Press. Mr. Dana of the Sun is president of the United Press, and Mr Lafflin of the Sun is vice-president of the United Press The Associated Press recently determined to enlarge its operations and become a national organization. It is extending its field of operations into New York and New England in direct opposition to the United Press, and the New York Sun thinks it can retard its progress by publishing an alleged account of what ccurred eleven years ago.

"The publication of this story in the Sun was simply for the purpose of be-littling the guarantee fund of $319,000 subscribed by the Associated Press papers. It says: 'Every member was as-sured that not one dollar would ever be called for.' On the contrary, no as-surance of that kind was ever made. "If the speculative triumvirate in control of the United Press are building their hopes upon the flimsy assertion that the Associated Press does not expect to pay up the $319,000 when called upon, they are badly mistaken. They do not understand the temper of the Associated Press. What-ever may be said of the newspapers in New York and New England, it is very certain that the Western papers belong-ing to the Associated Press never will consent to receive their news filtered exclusively through the New York Sun, and controlled exclusively by a specu-lating banker and two speculating newspaper men.

"If the great dailies of New York wish to play second fiddle to the New York Sun, they have that privilege.
The press of the Western country, however, well understand their position. The New York Sun has a olnch. How long will this continue, and how long will the New York papers play a subordinate role?"

ALLEGED JURY BRIBERS.

Ex-Senator Dunn and Politician McManus Arrested on a Charge. SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 20.—(By the Associated Press.) The Examiner says that ex-State Senator William J. Curtis of the murder of Policeman Grant.

A few days ago the Examiner printed a story that McManus and Dunn were trying to force Curtis to pay them $3000 which they claimed to have expended in securing his acquittal. This story and subsequent developments led to today's arrest.

Chief of Police Crowley said: "I do not intend to stop, with the arrest of McManus and Dunn. Several people much higher in the social scale will soon find themselves in an embarrassing predicament. Two of the Curtis jurors have done things that would convict them in any court of having taken bribes, and I do not propose to permit these men to go free."

Attorney Wilson, who defended Curtis, says he does not believe the jury was bribed, but thinks McManus and Dunn tried to extort money from his cilent.

The closing minute was a pathetic struggle against the inevitable, but it was the fresh that struggled, not the spirit. The white face of the woman gazed heavenward, and her lips moved in prayer. Even the fury of the flames that wreathed her limbs and blistered and curled the white flesh of her arms were powerless to provoke a scream.

Suddenly there was a swaying and surging of the burning timbers above her. A wild groan burst simultaneously from the lips of the spectators, and strong men wept. Through their tears they saw the flames sweep around the face of the martyred woman, and her hair burned wildly for a moment. Her head dropped to one side as the victim inhaled flames, the praying lips were stilled, and the soul of Mrs. Van Dusen passed beyond the fury of the elements of the earth. An hour later her husband, for whom she left a loving message, joined her in the world to come. Wooley hurried with his oiling, and when he got into the cab told the conductor that he was ready to go, and asked if he was sure No. 9 had gone through. COL. BOB NORTHAM.

Reminiscences of the Capitalist's Early Days in Anaheim.

(Anaheim Gazette:) It would seem that our robust and rotund compatriot Col. Bob Northam, while of this city has fallen upon evil ways. A committee investigating his accounts and an all-Col. Bob Northam, whilom of this city, has fallen upon evil ways. A committee investigating his accounts and an alleged shortage of something like $125,.000 charged against him, besides numerous other little peccadilioes of one order and another, is not calculated to sit lightly upon the stomach of this autocrat of the Cosmos Club breakfast table. We all of us remember Bob as in the palmy days of his youth and springtime loveliness he came amongst us, and when he scrupled not to take a hand in a game of penny-ante at Fritz's, at a nickle a corner for the beer. But all this is changed now, and Bob sports a sure-enough slikdicer, wears the latest gloves, and his clothes are made in Bond street, so they say. Indeed, a local correspondent of a Los Angeles paper, writing more in sorrow than in anger about this change that has come over the spirit of Bob's dream, wrote that he scarcely looks at any of us now, and that he has been known to pass some of the old-timers by with an air of haughty superiority. Bob came among us, years ago, a penniless bank clerk, to be the agent of the Stearns Ranchos; he was fresh from Clay street, and they do say that, like Brother Holverson, he was a couple of thousand in the hole. He has a bank account of $135,000 now, and is worth, all told $250,000 or more. But his services came high during his fifteen years as agent for the company, and he has been threatened with death on more than one occasion while carrying on its business. That in itself should be worth all the money he has today, Once he went down into the peat-land swamps and dispersed a mob of blood-thirsty squatters, scattering consternation broadcast among them with a pistol in one hand and issuing orders with the other.

One of the specifications charged against him is the sale of about a tol in one hand and issuing orders with the other.

One of the specifications charged against him is the sale of about a thousand carloads of manure at $8 a car, and unaccounted for, to say noth-ing of land sales and other transac-tions innumerable, involving in the neighborhood of $125,000. Of course, our aforetime friend maintains that all aforetime friend maintains that all these accusations are prompted in mal-ice, and is even now collecting evi-dence and data to prove his innocence, and immediately to scatter confusion and immediately to scatter confusion among his enemies, with especial refer-ence to the Duke of Miraflores, like unto that which prevailed among the squatters in the aforetime when the world was young.

A Rotten System. There seems to be something radically wrong about our educational system on this Coast, more especially in the governing department. To say that the Los Angeles School Board does not possess the confidence or respect of the citizens is to put it very mildly. The scenes which have occurred at meetings of the board have not tended to inspire the respect of the people, and some of their actions have been more than questionable. It does not seem that San Francisco is much better of in this respect than Los Angeles. At a recent meeting of the San Francisc board there was a regular Donnybrook affair of a time, and one of the di rectors was knocked down. One would naturally suppose that, in choosing men to manage educational interests. choice would be made from among the most intelligent and respectable of our citizens, and politics kept severely in the background. The very opposite of this is the case, as a rule, and the result is not only disastrous, but disgus

An enthusiastic county road conven tion was held in Sacramento a few days igo. The farmers largely outnumbered city delegates, but the convention did precisely what the most progres sive people of both the city and coun-try wanted. The debate was most spirited. The conclusions arrived at were as follows: "More good roads are wanted; that we want them now; that a direct tax to secure them is unwise, we believe; that to borrow $250,000 for forty years on five-year calls is the most economical plan. There is enough material in these two propositions to cause the same deadlock in the steer ing committee that has prevailed 'n the Senate, but this is not probable, as certain of the Democrats propose to force a conclusion, even if it becomes necessary to adopt a Republican measure

We can make California's Midwinter Fair a success if we will, but in order to do it we have got to work for it right straight along. THE FIFTH DAY.

Yesterday's Events Out on the Track.

Gossiper's Easy Trot in the 2:27 Class.

The Gentlemen's Race Won by Oliver's P. Q.

Silkwood's Pacemaker Does Some Good Mile for a Novice-Much Interest Taken in the McKinney Race to Be Trotted Today.

The fifth day of the races passed without special event at Agricultural Park, but the attendance was good, and all stayed to the close, much interested in the performance of the speedy horses brought out on the track.

Tomorrow another great crowd will gather to witness the second big race of the week, the free-for-all trot between McKinney, Ottinger, Klamath, Edenia, Adelaide, McGregor and Richmond, Jr. Of course, McKinney will be the favorite, at least on the first heat. If he should lose the first the tide will undoubtedly turn toward Ottinger or Klamath, with probable preference for the former. Ottinger did some remarkably good work the other day when he against Edenia and Challenger Chief, and his victory over these two favorites will do much toward piacing him well up at the head of the list to-day. The records of McKinney and day. The records of McKinney and Ottinger are so very close, 2:31½ and 2:11½, that all things being qual, any slight disadvantage in favor of one or the other would seem to be apt to throw the scale onto the other side. McKinney holds first place in the popular mind, however, records notwith tanding.

The brown gelding Ottinger may change the order of things by the speed which he is capable of making, and even 2:131/4 Klamath stands a chance even 2:13¼ Kiamath stands a chance of doing better than his former mark. The directors of the association endeavored to arrange to have Silkwood go against his own record of 2:07¼ on the track today, but it is reported that Mr. Willits would not consent to let the stallion go unless he was well paid for it. Those who know the big pacer's points best believe that he will prove a world beater with 1-roper handling. His time of Wedneslay, 2:08¼, was made on a slow track under unfavorable conditions.

DIRECTORS' PURSE.

DIRECTORS' PURSE. Nearly all of the horses brought out yesterday were young and untried, with their records yet to make. The first race of the afternoon was for the directors' purse, for all ages, three-eights of a mile heats, two out of three. In this face the chestnut mare Walf, gray gelding Ben H., bay filly May Golding, and the chestant mare Gyest Walf sold favorite in the ols, with Gypsy Girl second, and Ben and May Golding in the field. THE GENTLEMEN'S RACE.

The trotting and pacing race, owners to drive, brought out W. W. Whitney and his chestnut mare Bernard, K. W. Reynolds and bay mare Fritzie, W. J. Oliver and bay filly P. Q., William Dodge and black gelding Draco, W. P. McIntosh and chestnut gelding Vindex. The owners all drove in old-fashloned sulkies, and altogether the race was a novel one. McIntosh's horse would have been a good one if he had not been so prone to break, on the slightest provocation. Oliver's P. Q. was the most thorough racer of the bunch. The little bay pacer thoroughly understood the business, and setled down at once when the word "go" was given, to win the heat. P. Q. was Silkwood's pacemaker for the record made last year by the Santa Ana horse.

P. Q. took the lead at once, and went off in good form. At the half-mile Draco broke badly, and Vindex put in his time by running part of the way and holding his feet the rest. He got in next after P. Q., Fritzle being third. Bernard was caught by the flag and declared distanced. P. Q's. time was 2:33%.

The same order was repeated in the second heat, only this time Vindex was distanced and Draco came in second. In the third heat, also, P. Q. won without trying. Oliver held up his horse on the stretch purposely, and only this prevented the other two from being distanced. The time on the last heat was 2:36 flat.

TROTTING NOVELITY.

Mayberry's Merry Bells, Gardner's Sir Credit, Gray Cloud and Newton's Princeton went off in the trotting novelty race, 2:30 class. Sir Credit is a McKinney horse, Princeton an Alcazar with dam by Echo, and Merry Bells by State of Maine and Lady Emily. Gray Cloud was successful in the first heat, making the time of 2:31½, Credit second, Princeton third. Gray Cloud having dropped out, the second heat opened with Princeton in the lead. He was crowded by Sir Credit very soon, however, and the last named horse won the heat in 2:28¾, Princeton second.

The third heat closed by Princeton TROTTING NOVELTY.

The third heat closed by Princeton doing the mile in 2:29%, almost distancing Merry Bells.

GOSSIPER GOES FAST.

Gossiper, the bay gtallion who gave the swift Challenger Chief such a close race the other day, made good time in the 2:27 class trotting, but he had nothing strong againt him, and was, therefore, ruled out of the pools. The bay mare Flora, bay stallion Conn and chestnut gelding Tono were his competitors. With Gossiper out, pools sold with Flora against the field, even money. noney.

Flora came in second on the first neat to Conn's third and Gossiper's nterest in the Fair Well Sustained-Fifth Friday was the fifth day of the fair, on preceding days, the weather was propitious, and the gate receipts were sat-isfactory. By closing-time Friday evenpitious, and the gate receipts were satisfactory. By closing-time Friday evening everything was in good shape for concluding the fair today, with its accompanying work well up to date. The last of the awarding committees have turned in their reports, and the business of the fair will be in good condition for a prompt winding up by the time the last race is run and the last pumpkin looked at tonight.

Outside the track, the chief general feature of the Friday programme was the balloon ascension. By added precautions, the difficulties under which the first ascension was made were avoided, and, at the proper time, the big bag, nicely inflated, shot upward as neatly as a bird goes into the air. The acronaut did a thrilling thing or two as he ascended, to give zest to his flight, and then, when at the highest some three thousand feet in the air, he loosened his parachute and salled gracefully and safely to earth. The disengaged bag turned over, coilapsed and followed suit.

The attendance on Friday was sufficient to tax the carrying capacities of the transportation lines during the busy hours, but a larger crowd is anticipated today, not only because it is the last hours, but a larger crowd is anticipate today, not only because it is the laday, and Saturday, but because it race programme has been made especially attractive for the occasion.

There is also in this collection a display of architectural drawings, as well as sketches in ink and a few pieces in oil. Ingram & Lowe make a pretty showing of painted porcelain. They also show monochrome work as well as landscapes, flowers and figures, and sketches from nature done in oil. In the exhibit by H. B. Outside of the pavilion, within reach of the sound of many falling waters, the gas engines churn their roundelays. Among these home-production claims one, the invention of A. J. Painter of Pasadena. These motors are built in Los Angeles, under supervision of the inventor of their distinguishing features, upon which patents are pending. Mr. Painter claims for his machine the merits of the most approved and modern gas engines.

Over near the poultry house, W. F. Wheeler displays the results of his efforts to foil the weasles, coyotes and similar vermin, which despoil his henroosts at his mountain ranch. It consists of a small house, with room for a dozen hens on its roost, and attached to it is a covered yard ten feet square. Tho whole contrivance can be easily lifted from place to place. Daily moving, the builder claims, insures the health of the brds. The roof and sides of the house are hung on pivota. A moment's work at night makes the house vermin-proof, water-tight, and yet leaves it theroughly ventilated. The invention is novel, and its owner says it is especially economical and satisfactory as a profit-maker.

Armstrong finally began to abuse his wife and also attempted to defraud his mother-in-law. He was a number of times arrested for failure to provide for his wife. He also began to keep company with a woman named Allie Leach, and letters passed between them. It was one of these letters that the man had his wife arrested for opening. Some of the letters were read and they were written in a manner in which it was evidently intended to make love to Armstrong and at the same time evince the woman's dislike for the wife.

He then left the house, and was not seen afterward. As he had about $60 in his pockets, it was feared that something had happened to him.

Ocean End of the Outfall. The iron pipe on section 10 of the outfall sewer was drawn about three nundred feet into the ocean yesterday hundred feet into the ocean yesterday and was expected to be drawn out for the full distance required at an early hour this morning.

The pipe was laid on a long carriage mounted on rollers and the end plugged so as to keep out the water. The pipe was then weighted down with sand bags so that it would barely float. The ocean end was attached to a line conected with the tug Pelican, anchored some distance out, and the pipe was gradually forced away from the land by means of sets of windlass on the shore. As the pipe was pulled out and began to float too freely, more water could be admitted so as to keep it from becoming too buoyant. The rubber cushions between the ends of the pipe prevent breakage.

The First Methodist Church on Broadway was very well filled last evening to listen to the children and young folks of the Loyal Temperance Legion, in music, recitations and dialogues. The little ones acquitted themselves excellently, and their efforts were heartily applauded. The entire exercises had a temperance bearing, and those who have this work in charge, and are instilling such in charge, and are instilling such valuable lessons into the minds of the young people, through songs and speeches, should be warmly commended. The programme was conducted by Mrs. Lucy S. Blanchard, president of the legion. The church was neatly decorated, and many of the songs were sung from printed banners.

That Story About Discrimination Against San Diego.

Terms of the Wells-Fargo Express Company's Franchise-Union Pacific and a New Schedule-Local Notes.

In this paper yesterday was reprinted an editorial from the San Diegan-Sun regarding an alleged boycott of San Chicago ticket agents. man who was down there recently said that when he was about to start from Chicago for California he wanted to buy tickets direct to San Diego, but the ticket agents refused to sell him what he wanted, though anxious to sell to Los Angeles. The traveler went from one office to another, but in all of them found that San Diego tickets were "turned to the wall," and were were "turned to the wall," and were off sale. It appears he thus visited at least the Rock Island and the Eurlington offices, but, of course, dld not go to the Santa Fe. Then when he did reach San Diego he gave the papers there another chance to denounce discrimination against that city in favor of Los Angeles. The truth of the matre is that the man referred to started crimination against that city in favor of Los Angeles. The truth of the matter is that the man referred to started westward during the time, previous to October 1, that the Southern Pacific refused to accept tickets reading over any portion of the Southern California lines of the Santa Fe on account of the differences between the roads in regard to passenger rates. This boycott was of short duration, being rescinded on the last inst., but while it lasted it affected Riverside, San Bernardino and every other place on the lines of the Southern California Railroad Company, as well as San Diego. The man who could not buy a ticket to San Diego at the same rate as to Los Angeles was unfortunate in the timing of his journey, for anybody could have done so previous to September 24 and after October 1. But -even during that brief boycott, as well as before and since, the Santa Fe has kept San Diego rates on an equality with those to Los Angeles. The howls of "discrimination" emanating so frequently from San Diego are wearisome, and, as in the case here alluded to, uncalled for.

BULLOCK'S ROAD BUSTED.

PRESCOTT (Ariz...) Oct. 20.—(By the Associated Press.) T. S. Bullock, president of the Prescott and Arizona Central Railroad, arrived here yesterday, and the result is that orders were issued to withdraw trains from the road. The road has been in the hands of a receiver since August 1, but has not been taking in enough to meet the running expenses, and since that time $50,000 of receiver's certificates have been issued. The road is seventy-two miles long, but since the building of the Santa Fe, Prescott and Phoenix road the latter has had all the business.

A RENEWED CONTRACT.

A RENEWED CONTRACT. A New York special to the San Francisco Chronicle says:

rancisco Chronicie says:
"Considerable interest attaches to be renewal of the contract between the Southern Pacific and Wells, Fargo the renewal of the contract between the Southern Pacific and Wells. Fargo & Co., giving to the latter exclusive privileges of the big railroad system for twenty-one years more, beginning January 1, 1894. The contract has just been signed by the chief officers of both companies, with the previous consent of a majority of the stockholders of the express company, but subject, of course, to the formal ratification at a special stockholders' meeting, to be held at an early day. If there is any significance in the early renewal (the old contract expires on January 1 next.) there, would seem to be yet more significance in the exceedingly favorable terms which the express company obtained as compared with former contracts.

"The first contract between the Southern Pacific and Wells, Fargo & Co. was in 1866, for fifteen years, the express company paying $1,660,000 of its stock for the facilities acquired. The second contract was for twelve years, from January 1, 1881, to January 1, 1894, for $1,250,000 of the express company pany's stock. It will be seen from this that the express company has hitherto paid more than $100,000 a year for the privileges up to the present time.

"Under the terms of the new con-for the privileges up to the present time.

"Under the terms of the new contract Wells, Fargo & Co. pay to the Southern Pacific Company $1,750,000 of new stock, in advance, in consideration of the privileges of the railroad system. This amounts to only $83,332 a year, so that the franchise would appear to have diminished, instead of increased, in value. This, of course, is not the case; but Wells, Fargo & Co, were in a position to make demands, and the Southern Pacific is not refusing money in these hard times. President Huntington admitted that it was a very handsome bargain for the express company.

SOUTHERN PACIFIC FREIGHT.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 20.—(By the Associated Press.) Official reports of the Southern Pacific Company's freight department shows that the movement of California products for Eastern points is increasing year by year. During the last year and a half the balance of trade has been in fvor of California, a condition of affairs which never existed before. Now the freight going East is double the amount that is coming into the State. An effort will be made, this year, to market California apples in the East. It is estimated that the surplus crop here will be 500 carloads, and the Southern Pacific has applied for a rate of 1 cent a pound on apples to Chicago. Immense quantities of potatoes are being shipped East, most of them going to Texas.

TIRED OF LIFE.

Suicide of a Despondent Russian by an Over-dose of Morphine.

Yesterday, shortly before noon, the dead body of a man was found lying in a hollow, just off Ivy street, be-tween First and Temple. A partiallyemptied flask, labeled gin, and two bottles of morphine, one of which was empty and the other in the unbroken, empty and the other in the unbroken, original wrapper, were near by. The wrapper of the empty morphine bottle was also found on the ground near the corpse. All the appearances indicated a deliberate case of suicide. The man had evidently gone to the place with the intention of ending his life, and took no chances of failure. He first took an overdose, which was thrown off, and a second dose was taken, which had the desired effect, and he laid down in the hollow and waited for death, which came some time during Thursday night or early Friday morning.

The body was first discovered by two ladies, who were passing along Ivy street, and they at once notified the Coroner, who ordered the remains taken to Orr & Co.'s, on Spring street, where an inquest was held during the afternoon.

Nothing was found on the body by afternoon.

Nothing was found on the body by which the identity of the man could be established, except his naturalization papers. From this document it would appear that the man's name was Ephraim Koitamaki, a native of Russia, aged 26 years; that he came to the United States in 1887, landing at Boston, and that in the following year he declared his intention of becoming a citizen in Stearns county, Minn.

coming a citizen in Stearns county, Minn.

No one in the vicinity of where the body was found had ever seen the man, with the exception of one woman, who said that he had called at her house Thursday and asked for something to eat.

The gin bottle found near the body had the label of a Brooklyn (N. Y.) liquor-house on it, which would seem to indicate that the man was recently from that place. It is also believed that the morphine was purchased in the East, as the bottles were in the original manufacturer's wrappers.

Deceased was dressed as a common laborer, and, aside from the naturalization certificate, nothing was found on the body, not a cent of money or a serap of paper.

The body will be buried at the county's expense today.

TOO MUCH WATER.

A Sick Man Disregards His Physician's Advice With Fatal Results.

Richard Palmer, an unnarried man aged 24 years, died yesterday morning at a lodging-house in the old Wilson Block, on South Main street, after being ill for only a day or two. At first it was thought that his death was the result of poison, but on investigation it was decided by Coroner Cates that an inquest was unnecessary.

From L. M. Hollingsworth, a cousin of the deceased, it was learned that Palmer had a number of times had severe attacks of sickness.,

Dr. Johnson, who attended him, introduced a stomach-pump on the day before his death, and warned the young man against drinking water. It is thought that on account of weakness he could not withstand the desire to drink a quantity sufficient to cause his death.

The body was taken to the undertaking establishment of Cusssen & Cunningham, where it will be kept subject to the order of the relatives of the deceased. Some of the relatives live in Callente, in Kern county.

Charged With Grand Larceny. John T. Stones, a young man from Norwalk, was arrested on a charge of grand larceny by Sheriff Cline.

The complaint was made by the young man's father, and the warrant was brought in by an Artesia constable, who gave Deputy Cline a description of the man wanted. The deputy arrested him from this description yesterday.

The Board of Trade Committee, of

The Board of Trade Committee, of which W. E. Arthur, Esq., is chairman, appointed to arrange for the celebration to be given in honor of Father Throop, met at the Wooster Block Friday morning, to formulate plans for this important event.

Mr. Arthur reported on the success that had attended the efforts of one or two members of the committee in the matter of obtaining subcriptions for the purchase of the handsome oil portrait of Mr. Throop, which it is proposed to present to the university. proposed to present to the university.

The picture will cost the citizens $250, one-half of the original price, the balance having been generously donated by the artist, Albert Jenks of Los Angeles.

Mr. Arthur also reported on the matter of the banquet, which is to constitute the closing feature of the celebration, and which will be given at Hotel Green. He submitted an attractive menu, as outlined by Chef David, and recommended that the date for holding the celebration be fixed not earlier than December 1, in order to accommodate Manager Holmes. A FIRE AND A COLLISION.

About 9 o'clock Friday morning the Osterhout residence property, adjoining that of Dr. G. Roscoe Thomas, on the west bluff, and occupied by A. F. Kenyon's family, was discovered to be on fire. The flames started in an upstairs closet, no one knowing how, and for a short time a serious conflagration was threatened. An alarm was quickly sounded and the department responded with usual slacrity. Meanwhile, Dr. Thomas and several workmen, who happened to be present, by prompt and efficient work with the garden-hose, succeeded in extinguishing the fire before much damage had been done.

The hook and ladder truck, which was being driven by Mr. Stewart, came up Fair Oaks avenue at a rattling pace. The driver says it was his intention to proceed directly to Union street, but that he found his progress in this direction blocked at Colorado street by a street car. He then swung around onto Colorado street before the speed of the horses could be much checked, and, as a result, collided with a phaeton owned by W. S. Arnold, which, it is alleged, extended too far out into the street. One of the front wheels of the phaeton was smashed up, but otherwise ho damage was done. Reck-less driving in the business part of the street. One of the front wheels of the phaeton was smashed up, but otherwise no damage was done. Reckless driving in the business part of town is deserving only of the severest censure, but there are those who believe that the driver in this instance has been unjustly criticised. It would seem practicable to adopt a plan whereby the driving of the hook and ladder truck through the business portion of town for the simple purpose of picking up the firemen might be avoided.

Escape of Grimes the Burglar at Santa Ana.

Lively Sprinting Match in Which the Crook Was the Winner-More Sugarbeet Talk-Notes and Personals.

There was a big race in Santa Ana Friday, but the greater portion of the populace was not witnessing the event. It was not a horserace, and consequently Silkwood, W. Wood and Our Dick were "not in it," but the record was smashed into smithereens and the day and track were not fast and the day and track were not fast either. There were only two entered in the race, Officer Morgan of this city and William Grimes, the smooth young burglar, who was arrested in Los Angeles a week ago and brought to this city charged with burglarizing Towner's gunstore about three weeks ago. Grimes won hands down, in straight heats, and did not seem distressed in the least by his extrastraight heats, and did not seem distressed in the least by his extraordinary effort. Morgan was not in

"The prisoner is discharged," announced Judge Towner, after the matter had been investigated, and immediately Mr. Grimes arose, taking his hat in his hand, and, at the same time saying: "Am I discharged Your saying: "Am I discharged Your Honor" Receiving an assenting nod, he stepped to the rear of the court-room, and then the race was on. Officer Morgan arose from the audience with a warrant in his inside pocket for with a warrant in his inside pocket for the willy Grimes, and at once betook himself after the burglar, but on the first score, he went into the air, al-lowing Grimes to get a good lead, be-fore he could get on his feet again. The burglar made two jump down the back stairway and scaled the high board fence back of the courtrooms, but Morgan got off on the wrong foot and at the break away fell to the land-ing and rolled down the lower steps. He ing and rolled down the lower steps. He scrambled over the fence, however, and, with his eye on the fleeing Grimes, and, with his eye on the fleeing Grimes, struck a remarkable gait. But the pace set by the burglar was too much for the "cop." Over fences and through back yards they went at marvelous speed, qassing the quarter in 0:29 and the half in 1:01, a "too-too" gait. The attorneys from an eminence at the rear of the courtroom witnessed the fast time made, and saw that the "cop" was holding his own until the pair entered the backstretch south on Bush street. Then Grimes suddenly clapped on more steam, and, letting out a few kinks, gradually drew away from his determined pursuer and disappeared among the evergreens in S. Goldstine's back yard.

ard. William Grimes is wanted in this city on a charge of burglary, and if sighted, should be pursued by fleet-footed racers to insure his capture.

MORE BEET TALK. In the recent issue of the Anaheln Gazette appears the following: "As items of contemporary local in-terest may be mentioned the fact that the Chino sugar factory uses five tons of carpet tacks for their paper pack-ages in which crude sugar is shipped of carpet tacks for their paper packages in which crude sugar is shipped to the San Francisco refinery, and that 360,000 feet of lumber are used in the heads of the packages. The freight to San Francisco for this sugar alone amounts to $50,000. And as going to show the superiority of the Southern climate over the North for the production of sugar beets in all their perfection we may mention that last year the Watsonville refinery made 16,000,000 pounds of sugar from 56,000 tons of beets, while Chino made 8,000,000 pounds from 27,000 tons of beets. This great advantage of Southern California over the Northern country is without doubt the inducement which impels the Spreckels to come here to-look for a location for their new refinery. That Spreckels will erect a sugar-house on the Alamitos admits of very little doubt. We are reliably informed that he has bonded the tract for six months and paid $1000 on it, and that amounts practically to a sale,"

Sheriff Lacy was called across the Santa Ana Raliroad track Thursday evening to arrest two tramps, whowere under the influence of liquor, and who were passing their time in frightening the children of the neighborhood. They first manifested a disposition to resist arrest, but were finally landed in the county bastile to sleep off their drunkenness.

Word was received in this city several days ago that Frank Cobler, the printer reported to have committed suicide at San Diego, had gone to Los Angeles, but a telegram just received, in answer to a query sent to Los Angeles asking if he had returned, states that he is nowhere there to be found. He wrote a letter to his mother in this city, a few days ago, asking her to take care of his wife and children, who are now in Los Angeles. It is now believed that he did not commit suicide, but has left for the interior of San Diego county.

The constant clamoring which the residents have kept up for the improve ments in the way of lights and side-walks, and which have been noted in The Times, have had the desired of at a furious gate. The people talk improvements in their homes and in their business, and a general desire is being manifested to have Pomona stand at the head of the procession. When the City Council ordered the arc lights it made a good step forward. There is no kicking over the expenditure of $160 per month for lighting the city. It will be about sixty days before the lights can be put in, as they will have to be ordered from the East. When the city is the consistency of the most remarkable electric light plant in the world, partly because the mountain stream, threen miles away, is utilized for power, and the current sent to the cities of Pomona and San Bernardino for incandescent lighting, and partly because both the incandescent and arc lights will be run from the same current, a thing considered above the enterties of the considered and considered above the enterties of the considered and current, a thing considered above the enterties of the considered above the current, a thing considered above the certification. at a furious gate. The people talk imincandescent and arc lights will be run from the same current, a thing considered almost impossible heretofore. The company is considering the idea of putting in another dynamo, as it had no idea the Council would order so many lights as a starter. The lamps are more expensive than the ordinary direct current arc lamp, and will cost the company, with the extra poles, wires, etc., bout $2000. The streets that will have the most lights will be Second. Garey, Main, and Ellen. The Council has shown much literality toward the churches, and nearly every one will have an arc light almost in front of the building.

Rev. Burrows, formerly pastor of the episcopal Church at his place, but now of Santa Ana, spent Wednesday in Po-

Presbyterian Church next Sunday, as the pastor is attending the synod in Oakland.

The prospects for an immense crop of oranges in this valley were never better. Especially is this the case in the regions of Claremont and between this place and Ontario. The trees are simply loaded. No wonder the growers are doing their best to organize and get good prices for their fruit. It means a small fortune to some to get good prices this season, as the crop is so very large. Some of the growers are commenting on the fact that the commission men are so anxious to see the mission men are so anxious to see the organization fall through, and say if they really had the interest of the growers at heart, they would want to see the organization a success. The growers are confident their plans will work

The Southern Pacific trainmen, who pass through this place, have at last come to the conclusion that it is best to go slow through the city limits. Tucsday evening the city marshal timed one of the passenger trains, which are prohibited from running at a higher rate of speed than fifteen miles an hour, and found the train was making twenty-live. He complained of the fact to the engineer, and he said he did not know there was any ordinance

The trains have since slowed down very materially. If some "slow" posts were put up a half mile cach side of the depot, it would certainly help matters.

The bids for a suitable place for tht postoffice will be opened today. The fight has really only just begun, as the scramble for "influence" with Uncle Sam has only just begun. Some good ideas were advanced by several Second street, business men, one of whom said: "Why can't the people of the East End and the West End get together and agree on a compromise place? Why can't two sections hold a joint meeting, discuss the situation in all its phases, and agree on a common point? I believe one meeting would settle the matter. I believe the matter would be settled for all time to come, whereas, if it is located in either the East End or West End, there will be this continual wrangling all the time." It is stated that four locations have been the fight will be interesting.

It is likely that the project to get Harvard University to locate its proposed $120,090 astronomical observatory on one of the peaks adjacent to "Old Baldy," will be dropped, now that Dr. Fairchild is dead. He was the prime mover and chief spirit in the scheme, and gave it all the enthusiasm and push it ever had. He spent a large sum of money and many weeks of work on the plan for an observatory on the mountains north of this valley.

The contract between the city of Pomona and the San Antonio Light and Power Company was signed Thursday evening. The contract provides for twenty are lamps, of at least two thousand candle power each. The company is given until January 1, 1894, to erect the poles and have the lamps in position. President Dole and Secretary Burt think they can have most of them in operation in about thirty days, or as soon as the lamps can be received from the East. It is also probable that another dynamo will be put in by Thomas Morgan, Charles Wilson and Pedro Vaca were taken before Justice Freeman Friday, charged with vagrancy. Thomas Morgan was believed to be innocent of the charge against him, and was dismissed. The other two persons were sentenced to ten days in the County Jail.

STILL UNDECIDED.

Mr. Stockwell Has Not Yet Made Up His W. W. Stockwell, the newly-elected official notification of his appointment yesterday.

When seen by a Times man yesterday afternoon he said he had not yet decided as to whether he would accept the office or not. The election, in the first place, was an entire surprise to him, and, had he been consulted about the matter before the election, he should have most certainly declined. As the situation was now he was not yet prepared to state what he would do. The acceptance of the office would, of course, place him in an unpleasant position, where, if he endeavored to do his duty, he would be likely to make more or less enemies. Besides this, the position is not a salaried one, and for a man to leave his business for a considerable length of time each week in order to attend to his duties as commissioner without pecuniary compensation therefor would involve something of a sacrifice.

As to what policy he would favor should he decide to accept the position Mr. Stockwell said he would at present prefer not to state. He had, previous to about one week ago, been out of town for some weeks, and, although he had seen occasional copies of the local papers, he did not feel thoroughly conversant with the situation up to date. He desired to further consider the matter, and if he should decide not to accept the position he intended to notify the City Council to that effect at next Monday's meeting. Should he conclude to accept he would appear at the next meeting of the commission and qualify. Further than that he had nothing at present to say.

Receiver Willey

And the Supreme Court Asked to Render Him Powerless.

The Case Will Be Heard in San Francisco In Three Weeks-Superior Court Doings-New Suits-

Minor Notes.

The first thing taken up by the Supreme Court in bank yesterday was the application of the McDonald interin the Pacific Bank, for a writ of prohibition against both Superior Judge Hebbard and Receiver Willey. The writ was presented by Attorney Peter F. Dunne of San Francisco, who made a special trip to this city for the purpose. It alleges a want of jurisdic-tion on the part of Judge Hebbard, and avers that there is no statutory war-rant for his appointment of Willey to succeed Sheriff McDade. It further states that, as the court had no common law or equity power to make the order, such order is, therefore, vold. The present petition further states that, as there is no plain, speedy or adequate remedy in the ordinary course of law for relief, the McDonalds, there-fore, ask the Supreme Court for an alternative writ of prohibition, which will command Superior Judge Hebbard

The court promptly handed down the following, and Attorney Dunne left for San Francisco to bring about a stay of proceedings under the order:

"On reading and filing the application of the petitioners herein, it is ordered that the same be set for hearing at San Francisco on November 7, 1893, at 10 a.m. It is further ordered that at least five days' notice of the hearing of said matter be given to the respondents."

Meantime the assets of the Pacific Bank are vacillating between the Sheriff and the new receiver. Whichever has control of them when the Supreme Court's latest order is served on him will retain possession until a final decision is given on the application to make the writ of prohibition permanent.

The directors of the Pacific Bank are ramed in the petition as R. H. McDonald, R. H. McDonald, Jr., Frank V. McDonald, A. K. Stevens, J. J. Bowen, Columbus Waterhouse, William A. Grade, and F. J. Ijams.

OTHER WORK OF THE COURT. In addition to the above action in the Pacific Bank case, the Supreme Court Pacific Bank case, the Supreme Court handed down several other Accisions. In the case of Childs, respondent, vs. Lanterman, appellant, a written opinion was delivered, deaying the motion to dimiss the appeal. In the case of Toomy, respondent, vs. Hale, appellant, the judgment and order of the San Francisco-Superior Court are affirmed. A writ of habeas corpus was denied in the case of Charles Bell, who was accused of grand larceny and porticted of petty larceny. The appellant alleges that his imprisonment in the County Jail is unlawful, because the Superior Court has no jurisdiction in cases of petty larceny. The Supreme Court decides that the charge of grand larceny gave the Superior Court jurisdiction and the code authorizes a conlarceny gave the Superior Court juris-diction, and the code authorizes a con-

The court also sat in two departments. In Department One the following cases were disposed of as indited Knight vs. Pacific Coast Stage Company, argued and submitted; Smith, appellant, vs. City of San Luis Oblspo, respondent, also submitted. The following cases were submitted upon the briefs on file: First National Eark of San Luis Oblspo vs. Henderson et al.; Woodward vs. McAdams et al.; lowe et al. vs. Wood et al.; County of San Luis Oblspo vs. Pettit, treasurer, etc.; estate of Thompson, and the case of Dooley vs. 17,500 head of sheep.

DROPPED OUT OF SIGHT.

Strange Disappearance of an Inmate of the Soldiers' Home. If the earth had swallowed up Elias N. Pegg, he would not be more lost to the right of his friends than he is at the present time.

He has been a member of the Soldiers' Home for the past four months, and on Wednesday, October 11, he went away. He has not been seen since that day. During the last three months of his stay at the home, he has been acting as a nurse at the hospital, and he has been an exemplary and valuable man there in every way.

neting as a nurse at the hospital, and he has been an exemplary and valuable man there in every way.

On the day of his departure he said he wished to visit Los Angeles, and that he would return on the evening train. But he never returned.

Before he entered the home, Pegg was a nurseryman on Boyle Heights, and has friends and relatives over there. Inquiry yesterday among his acquaintances in the city revealed the fact that no one had seen him since he left the home.

His disappearance is quite a mystery. When he left he had a small sum of money on his person, wages as nurse for the past three months. It is possible that he might have met with foul play at the hands of some assassin who was after what few dollars he had on him.

He has either met with foul play, or has wandered off in a fit of mental aberration.

Capt. Young, who has been in charge of the dining-room for a long time, has resigned that postion and taken his discharge from the home.

The announcement of the public sale of 150 selected lots in the Angeleno Heights tract today is attracting the attention of home builders and investors, attention of home builders and investors, and the promise is certainly very flattering for a successful sale. What money is offering comes mostly from recent arrivals from the East, and they ask high rates of interest for loans. Every one is looking ahead two or three months wondering what the condition of the money market will be about New Year's. Reference has al-ready been made in these columns to about New Year's. Reference has all ready been made in these columns to the fact that the large number of depositors in the savings banks, who gave six months' notice of withdrawal during the recent flurry, will be looking for their money about Christmas time, and it is not altogether clear whether the savings banks will be in a position to meet all these demands, coming all at once. Unless depositors leave their money for another term of six months it will draw no interest, and rather than tie it up for that period at 5 per cent., most of them will prefer to loan it on mortgages at twice that rate of interest, which can be readily secured on small loans. The fact is that the bank trouble of last summer, as far as savings banks are concerned, was only postponed for six months, owing to the privilege which those banks have of requiring depositors to give notice of withdrawal. This applies not only to the savings banks of California, but to those of the whole country. There is no doubt that the banks of this section will be in a better position to meet demands upon them than those of the East, owing to the large amount of capital which will be brought here by Eastern people for investment. The local savings banks are, of course, pushing hard for all money that is due them, and this tends to make money tight. No question has been heard in regard to the solvency of our local institutions, which are all believed to be in excellent condition. It is simply a matter, of getting in within a short time a large amount of money that is loaned on real estate, and this is not always an easy thing to do, especially, in such times. Such being the case, The Times would not see depositors to be reasonable, and not force a crisis which would work great injury to the real estate market as well as to other industries in firs Angeles, at a time when prospects have never been brighter than they are at present.

THE HOTEL QUESTION. This naturally leads to the question of a first-class tourists' hotel, which is so badly needed in Los Angeles. A ma-jority of the visitors express surprise jority of the visitors express surprise at the absence of such a hotel in Los Angeles, when smaller places on the outside are well provided. In Pasadena the Hotel Green has been transformed into a building that would be a credit to any city, and is prepared to entertian a large crowd of visitors, many of whom have already engaged rooms. It is understood that the proprietor of this fine hotel, not satisfied with what he has done, is considering a plan for enlarging it still further. The hotels in Santa Monica and Redondo offer great inducements, and the hotel del Coronado keeps up a steady and effective line of advertising. Meantime, Los Angeles is without a first-class tourists hotel, and in consequence loses every winter-many-thousands of dollars, besides the indirect loss of hundreds of thousands more in the shape of investments, which are often made by weelthy visitors when they become interested in a place where they pass the winter. It would be difficult to estimate the amount of capital which the Raymond Hotel has brought to Pasadena in this manner. The Chicago capitalists who have been figuring on a hotel for Los Angeles have not given up the enterprise. They are very much pleased with the Belmont Hotel site, and expected to receive during the past week a definite offer from the parties who control that property.

A BIG DEAL.

The chief transaction reported during the week is that of 2000 acres in Riverside county, sold to Eastern parties by Fraser, Cook & Pearsons, who recently bonded the land. The purchase price approximaes $100,000, of which about $20,000 has been paid down. The tract will be at once subdivided and colonized with Eastern settlers. Further particulars are reserved for the present.

The same firm has under way a transfer of a tract of land within thirty miles of Los Angeles, which involves about $40,000. This shows that Eastern capital is beginning to arrive in Los Angeles. There will be more of it from page 100.

cellent opportunities for profitable investment in that section, lying between Main and Central avenue, which has been much neglected. Considering the excellent character of the soil, which also republished to the soil of excellent character of the soil, which dries rapidly after a rain, and the proximity to the business center, property in this section is perhaps cheaper today than in any other part of the city. This tract will at once be graded and probably about the 1st of January will be offered to the public in building lots.

WEST OF THE CITY.

Mention was made last week of a sale of acreage property just outside Mention was made last week of a sale of acreage property just outside of the city limits on the line of Sixth street. Another deal is under way for the sale of eighty acres in that neighborhood. Should it be consummated, the tract will be divided into two-and-a-half acre villa lots. This is a very sensible idea, and should be imitated by other subdividers. If a person goes from three to five miles from the business center, he generally likes to have more elbow room than is affordeed by a fifty-foot lot. In such cases, a citizen likes to have room to grow a little fruit and keep a few chickens and a Jersey cow, and play at being a rancher on a small scale. There has been too much cutting up of distant tracts into ordinary residence lots, and that is one reason why such lots have been slow of sale. It may, of course, be said that a man may take from two to half a dozen of such iots, but this generally comes rather high, as subdividers appear to have the idea that they ought to get about-as much for a fifty-foot lot as they paid for an acre. Let us have more villa lots around Los Angeles.

AN OIL BOOM.

AN OIL BOOM.

Just outside of the Second-street park, on the northwest, there are some low-lying and undesirable lots upon which are located some shantles. These lots have been offered at almost any price without finding purchasers. Some of those who failed to purchase them now wish that they had done so, as a bonanza has been struck there in the shape of several flowing oil wells, which yield their fortunate owners from three to ten barrels a day. The oil is not pumped, but is allowed to accumulate during the night, and is then drawn out, finding a ready market for use as fuel. Some of the parties who are engaged in this enterprise believe that the main deposit lies on this side of the wells, and have leased a lot on a hill between State and Court streets, where they are beginning to bore. In another part of the city, just across the river on Macy street, Albert Moore has a well which he has leased to parties who are down them now wish that they had done

From the first settlement of the city it has been known that there is petroleum in and around Los Angeles. It oozes out at many points within the city limits, but has not yet been struck in large quantities. With so many favorable indications at hand it is remarkable that no more systematic many tavorable indications at hand it is remarkable that no more systematic effort has been made to discover a paying deposit. The expense of prospecting is not very great, while the profits, in case of a successful find, the very lower. are very

BUILDING ASSOCIATIONS. Nothing does more to insure stabil-ity in prices of real estate and to maintain values in a city than the existence of a number of solid and well-regu-lated building associations. They en-courage thrift and induce many men of moderate means to make themselves homes, who would otherwise never think of doing so. The third annual convention of the California State League of Mutual Building and Loan Associations was held in San Francisco during the past week. The league is a very important organization. a very important organization. The object of these meetings is to protect the members of these organizations and to increase the profits as far as this can safely be done.

Thus far the league has achieved much. In March, 1891, it succeeded in having passed a bill which defined cooperative societies, set forth the conditions under which professedly "mutual" organizations can do business, required the presentation of an annual report to the bank commissioners, and a deposit of $50,000 from all kindred associations doing business in this State, but organized under the laws of any other State or Territory.

This year the brincipal achievement of the league, in a legislative line, was the appointment of two building and loan association commissioners, whose duty it is to examine and report upon the condition of all such societies in this State. Some minor modifications of the law were also secured. In the convention held during the past week further legislative uniform papers were read, including one on "Distributions of Profits," by W. A. Spalding, late of The Times, who is now one of the State Building and Loan Association Commissioners.

tions of Profits," by W. A. Spalding, late of The Times, who is now one of the State Building and Loan Association Commissioners.

As to the practical results derived from this benificent form of co-operation throughout the United States, some facts gleaned from the report for the year 1831 of State authorities charged with the duty of collecting the statistics of the associations, will be instructive. In Pensylvania there is invested in building associations upward of $65,000,000. In Philadelphia alone nearly one hundred thousand homes have been paid for through this system. Twenty leading associations of the city paid, on an entire series, profits ranging from 6 to 14 per cent. From the association on December 31, 1891, aggregated $59,690,236. Of this sum, all but $337,937 was invested in mortgages. The average profit on a series was 7 per cent. In New Jersey there are over 200 associations, and their average rosit on a series say as 7 per cent. In New Jersey there are over 200 associations, and their average 20 per cent. The 110 associations in Massachusetts are known as co-operative banks. They have asset of $11,874,530, and the average profit is about 6½ per cent. In Indiana there are 120 associations, the larger propertion of which are in the city of Indianapolis. Their deposits, during 1891, amounted to about $1,600,000, and their profits varied from 8 to 18 per cent. California has 135 associations, with assets of about $4,000,000. Their properation average 14 per cent. per annum, and Kansas associations average 15 per cent. per annum. There are several flourishing building associations in Los Angeles. Angeles. BUILDING NOTES.

Another important deal was the purchase by Wesley Clark and E. P. Byran from the First National Bank and Jose Mascaral of the eighteen acres on San Pedro street, known as the Elliot and Mascaral tract, which extends from Eighth to Eleventh streets. The price mentioned is $40,000, but it is understood that the actual price paid was somewhat less. Even at the figure named the purchasers ought to make a good profit within the next couple of years. The Times has frequently called attention to the ex-

A HANDSOME THEATER.

It is the general impression that Los Angeles is well provided with theaters, but Dr. Burbank is evidently not of this opinion, to judge from the handthis opinion, to judge from the handsome theater bearing his name which is nearing completion on South Mainstreet. It is understood that this theater will be run at lower prices of admission than those which prevail at the other houses, and will therefore, to some extent, cater to a different class of patrons. The seating capacity of the building is nearly two thousand. The decorations, as far as they are completed, are neat and attractive. The plan of having business advertisements painted on the drop curtain seems to be open to some criticism from an artistic standpoint, and appears to be out of place in a first-class house.

Crops and Markets.

The weather during the past week has been, as a rule, favorable for the fruit-growers. Wine grapes of fine quality are being gathered. The prune crop is now generally ready for market, some of it having been sold at about 4 cents. The crop has been a good one Walnuts are being gathered, those sold having brought 6 and 7 cents. Many are being held by growers for higher prices. The drying of the raisin crop at Riverside is almost completed. In dry belt east of Ontario there is an immense crop of raisin grapes this year, about half of which is now in the From San Diego county it is reported that the raisin grape crop was never better, being very large and of the best quality. It remains to be seen what sort of a price growers will realize for their raisins. So large a pro-portion of the crop is raised around Fresno that the growers in that section control the , market for California raisins. A large peanut crop is being gathered in Orange county. The crop this year is reported above the average in quantity and quality shipments of vegetables to the East in carload lots will soon begin. It is expected that several carloads of celery will be shipped from the peat lands of the Westminster country in county within the next two
The celery—and in fact all the vegetables—grown in that section is remarkably fine. A good demand is reported in the East just now for California vegetables. A few white men are going into the business in Orange county, but the industry is still left too nuch in the hands of Chinamen. As The Times has frequently urged, there is an excellent opportunity here for industrious white men to make a good living, and often something more. Lit-tle capital is required, but the man who goes into this business must not be afraid to work.

There is little of an encouraging character to note in the grain market. Those who can afford to do so, are still holding their crops in the hope of getting better prices later on, which hope Fruit Auctions.

The discussion between the advocates of open and closed auctions in Chicago promises to become as protracted and bitter as that which has so long raged nong the bug and anti-bug men. Many of our exchanges are burdened with long communications on one side or the other on this question, which appears to resolve itself into a dispute between two prominent commission houses. It would scarcely be supposed that any question could exist as to the of as many buyers as possible at an auction. The California fruit business is becoming altogether too important to be handled after the fashion of a second-hand furniture sale, at which goods are knocked down for much less than their value to parties on the in-

The Nursery Business.

Two weeks ago, in publishing an article on the nursery business, in which the nurserymen were rather roughly handled, we took occasion to say that we believe the nurserymen of South-ern California, as a class, to be honest and honorable. Last week a correspondent wrote, criticising our remarks nd saying some very harsh things about the nurserymen, which remarks we stated were overdrawn, according to our belief. We have received sefrom nurserymen, which are painted lines of business, but, as we have previously stated, we believe that the nurserymen of Southern California will compare favorably in regard to intelli-gence and probity with those of any other section of the United States. Buyers should, of course, exercise some dgment in purchasing trees. If, for the sake of saving a few dollars, they nursery stock from unknown parties, and then find that they have been swindled, we do not think that they are deserving of much sympathy.

There Must Be Harmony

There has been a good deal of quarreling going on among the members of the Pomona Fruit Exchange, and a stormy meeting was held on Monday. The exchange is composed of Clare-mont, San Dimas, Lordsburg and other sections. The Claremont association asked to be allowed to withdraw from the exchange. This was strongly op-posed by other members. It should be remembered by fruit-growers that little success can be expected from these fruit organizations unless the members work in thorough harmony with each other.

Agricultural Experiment Stations.

In the last report of the Department of Agriculture some interesting statis-tics about the agricultural colleges and experiment stations of the country are given. As to experiment stations, there were fifty-four, with a total revenue of $997.244. The station with the large est income was the New York State, at Geneva, which received $68,500. The Ohio station received the most for farm products sold, $6019, with Missouri next, The total number of persons employed at these stations was 491.

Importing Grapes.

The New York Sun recently contained following article:

the following article:

"There have been shipped to the New York market, in vessels which will be due this week, 45,000 barrels of grapes. They were not shipped from California, where vineyards fill the horn of plenty, nor from the Southern States, where abundant crops of grapes could be cheaply raised for the supply of all the American markets. The Californians ask too high a price for of all the American markets. The Californians ask too high a price for their grapes, and the Southerners do not raise enough of them for our consumption. There are 45,000 barrels of the fruit of the vine on the way to this port in ships from Spain! In the United States we have a larger area adapted to the growth of grapes than there is in all Europe. Why do not the Californians and Oregonians and Missourians supply us with grapes at as low a rate as the Spaniards? Why do not the Southerners living between the Potomac and the Rio Grande oust all foreign rivals from our grape marforeign rivals from our grape mar-? Green Oranges.

(Orlando (Fla.,) Reporter:) From various points in Florida come report oranges being rushed into the made by growers through the impor tunities of unreliable con who agree to put their fruit, upon ar rival, through some process of coloring and thus supplement the work of nature by giving it a ripe appearance. No intelligent grower should be mis led by such men into the indiscretion of forwarding green fruit, as the simple fact of coloring the orange does not remedy, beyond mere appearance, the actual condition of the fruit, which is thrown upon the market and repre-sented as first-class Florida product and purchased in good faith by dealers and consumers gation, find the fruit flat or sour and gation, find the fruit flat or sour and insipid, and not a fair sample of what it would be if left upon the trees a week or two longer. The result is our fruit grows into bad repute, dealers and consumers unconscious of the deception practiced upon them, become shy of the product, thinking that the doctored article is as good as any grown in the State, and thus the market is crippled for the entire season. When will growers wake up to their own interests?

New Apricots.

(Written for The Times:) In the article in The Times on "The Apricots in France" I was very much interested, being so long an admirer of the apricot, I concluded I would attempt to add a little to the article for our home good.

Probably the most interesting point is in regard to the varieties, especially he Luizet, which attracted my attenthe Luizet, which attracted my attention several years ago, when I read in the report of a French horticultural society the discussion that they believed the Luizet to be the most popular variety grown in many localities, especially Rhone, considering productiveness with quality. There it had not failed to bear good crops for years. Nevertheless the late frosts interfered. Upon this recommendation I secured a start and increased it, and since have start and increased it, and since have distributed through Southern California a number of hundred, last season alone 800 to 1000 to our customers, with promises of a good trial and report upon its merits, etc. Some of these trees sent out should be bearing now, and a report upon them would interest me considerably, if not all the horticultural readers of The Times. Our experience is that it is of the most vigorous and upright growth, quickly detected from most other varieties in not having the lateral branches in clusters along the branch of a season's growth, like the lateral branches in clusters along the branch of a season's growth, like the Moorpark and other varieties. The growth of this variety exceeds that of the large Early (the early white apricot,) which is probably the rankest and most productive variety grown in San Bernardino Valley, although the Royal far outranks it in quality and appearance, both dried and fresh. We predict for the Luizet a good future, as what we can learniandisee of it is that it is a late bloomer, a rank grower, it is a late bloomer, a rank grower, healthy, large foliage—all features that go to make a good bearer. Will all those that have this variety report

Another variety that we wish to call Another variety that we wish to call attention to is what is locally known as "Cole's Moorpark." a fine, large variety that can always command a better price than any in the market, both dried and fresh. This variety has become famous throughout the eastern portion of San Bernardino Valley for its bearing regular and heavy crops of such a high class of fruit. Mr. Cole, the owner of the trees, now worked up to some forty in number, said to me a few days since that his trees were threatened with ut-ter destruction from nurserymen and orchardists after budding wood, that compelled him to stop letting any more go. There are thousands of them budded go. There are thousands of them budded this season, and the variety is sure to become very popular and profitable. The identity of the variety is hard to trace. All that is known of it is that a trace. All that is known of it is that a Thomas Brown, a former nurseryman here, got his buds from trees in Riverside some twelve or thirteen years ago, in the infancy of the industry, even before the Moorpark boom, and set them in Mr. Cole's orchard—a number of acres of them; but of this variety there proved to be but a few. The productiveeness excels all other varieties. Its size is like the Moorpark; its quality cannot be beaten, so say those that know its merits. The pit has the crease Its size is like the Moorpark; its quality cannot be beaten, so say those that know its merits. The pit has the crease and opening like the Moorpark, and in general appearance resembles the latter considerably, but it is a regular heavy bearer, and the Moorpark is not. The first differs from the Moorpark is that fruit differs from the Moorpark in that it ripens through and has no hard or green side, and when it is ripe it is ripe clear through and well colored on both sides, which makes it an even, pretty dried fruit.

Have a System.

(Florida Agriculturist:) In three or four weeks the shipping season will be at flood tide and oranges leaving Florida by the thousands of boxes daily, We sincerely trust that our growers have formulated plans-be they good or bad-for the marketing of their fruit. Even a bad plan has its advantages over no plan at all and a helter skelter method. The latter is sure to be disasmethod. The latter is sure to be disastrous, and the former may also be, but it will have the virtue of having been planned and thought over.

No business in the world, it matters not how prophious was its start, how promising the outlook, could keep up with the same want of system that is. given the orange industry. Yet our growers marvel at unprofitable results. The man who has several thousand boxes of oranges for sale, should pursue the same course as do men in other business with other commodities for sale---that is they should try to find a purchaser and obtain the highest market price:

In order to do this it certainly is not the part of wisdom to pitch the fruit in boxes, mark them "Florida oranges," and send them to Mr. So and So a thousand miles away, whom he does not know and who may be an honest man or otherwise, and say to him, "Please sell this stuff and send me the money." This is what many orange-growers do, and these are often the ones who complain must about unprofitable returns.

Now if a manufacturer in Boston makes, for instance, several thousand pairs of shoes, different kinds, it is not likely that he will dump these shoes in likely that he will dump these shoes in a car and send them to a Florida mer-chant and tell him to sell them and send him the proceeds. He will carefully box and pack these shoes, putting of course different kinds in different packages. Then when a Florida mer-chant wishes to buy he pays for what he gets, or if he is worthy of credit he iven accommodation.

If the orange-marketing business was conducted in the same careful systematic manner as other lines of business, there would be less complaint of unprofitable returns.

Nothing is gained by churning the cream too cold. If it is properly ripened, just sour enough so that it is nicely thickened, it will make very fine butter if churned at 66 deg. in winter, but it should not be more than 62 or 64 deg. in summer. Much time may be gained, with no loss of quality in the butter, by churning at this temperature, provided the butter is cooled as soon as the globules appear. Skim milk is not a bad feed for to 62 deg., using either ice or cold water. Skim milk is not a bad feed for young helfer calves, especially if care be taken to feed it warm. It contains all the materials for growth that whole milk does. The whole milk is generally taken from the cow by suckling. This is just right for the calf that is fattening, but helfer calves to be kept for cows should not fatten. It is green grass and cold milk that causes scours in young calves.

It is as important to keep salt pure

In young caives.

It is as important to keep salt pure as it is to have the cream free from bad odors, if good butter is expected. Sacks of salt in the grocery or in the cellar should not be placed where there is a smell of fish, decaying vegetables or any other bad odor. Salt that has lost its savor is good for nothing but to be cast upon the dunghill.

LIVE STOCK

There will be the greatest demand for city roadsters this fall and winter ever known. Already men are wanting a roadster that can step at a merry clip, says the Western Horseman. As extreme speed has become an essential quality for a racehorse nowadays, so the day for a four minute roadster has passed. A horse that can show a 2:30 or 2:40 clip can always find a ready buyer, but a great many are demanding much faster ones and are willing to pay racehorse prices for them. Fast pole teams are wanted in all cit-ies, and it is suggested that those who breed and train horses for market should be on the lookout to select mates for their horses, for they can sell them at a good profit.

duced the demand for wool, and the trade in places has been so very small that prices have declined to a point where it is not profitable to sell it. Rather than rush their wool to market, many farmers who have been in need of ready cash or who became frightened too early at the prospect began selling their sheep, thereby killing the goose that laid the golden egg. There has been an unprecedented rush of sheep to the cities as a consequence, and now sheep are dull and lagging, so that prices for them are also very low. Still, many discouraged farmers continue forcing their sheep upon the market, anxious to get rid of feeding them, and eager to obtain a little ready cash.

It would be well if such farmers get too much frightened at the signs get too much frightened at the signs of an approaching panic. If we would all reason more, as the business men do, that the depression cannot last long, and that it has passed away, times will be better than before, we would save many anxious moments and live a happier life. The sheep industry is subject to depressions, as every other business, but on the whole it is good, sound and substantial.

It would be well if such farmers would stop and reason a little before going any further into bankruptcy, for it can be nothing else. The great number of sheep that have been killed, which were formerly kept simply for the wool they produced, will very materially reduce the wool-producing capacity of the country for the mext year. When manufacturers start up again there will be a demand for wool, but the lessened number of sheep in the country will not be able to supply the demand. Wool will consequently advance, and also mutton sheep, for the wool, and this will draw from the market many animals that usually go to make up the regular supply.

Look at it as we will, we cannot help concluding that there is a good outlook now for both wool and mutton. It may not come until the new year, but come it must. It is true that these improved conditions will be partly the result of hasty astions of unwise farmers. Those who have not sold out will profit at the expense of the foolish. But it is tust in all business concerns. Some houses get frightened in times of pressure, and they try to close out early before times become harder. They are afraid of failing. They sell out at a great, sacrifice what they have, and come out with a little ready cash on hand. But those that stand by the ship a short time often weather the storm, and find that compensation is made them through the withdrawal from business of many rival houses.

Farmers, as a rule, are inclined to

of the droppings, would sift over the floors to deodorize and render innoxious any effluvia which might arise; also, I would place old barrels on their sides, in which I put road dust for my setting hens. The same barrels with road dust were a healthy place for the hens with their broods at night, and the deodorized droppings could be easily removed.

after hatching, would boil an egg hard and then mix it with oatmeal, so as to make it as dry as possible. Chickens will thrive remarkably with such feed. After the first week we fed crumbs, cracked corn and wheat. Whenever a chick would get droopy my wife would give it 3X nux vomabout two or three drops in a little sweet oil—and in a day or two it would be all right. But we had very few sick chicks for the reason that the yards, henhouses, drinking vessels and everything about the premises were kept clean.

Again, we never let our young chicks out in the morning until the dew had dried off, or when it was rainy. In the autumn we had as healthy a lot of fowls as I ever saw—not a single sick bird, no mites, lice or fleas, and they commenced laying at five months. Where the soil is damp, chickenhouses should be floored, as the droppings of fowls falling on damp soil causes exhalations to arise, which is inimical to the health of poultry breathing the same, and is a fruit-source (coupled with drafts of air) of roup. To watch and care for the sanitary conditions of fowls contributes as much or more to the success of the poultry-raiser as anything else.

Poultry Notes. Poultry Notes.

The egg production of a hen in her prime, if she is properly cared for, is about three times her weight yearly.

Profit with the poultry comes not only from the eggs and the carcasses of the fowls, but also from the manure and the feathers.

There is some one fowl in which the quality desired is a leading characteristic and which is therefore the best for this purpose.

CLAIMS THE MONEY.

Ex-Tax Collector Whitney's Demand on the Treasury.

wrying to Collect Money Overpaid by the Citizens on Their Taxes-Inside History of a Peculiar with a writ of mandamus by ex-Tax collector Whitney. It seems that Mr. Whitney presented a demand on the county for $532.82, which he claimed was due him by reason of overpayment by him in settlement of the tax collec-

The claim of Mr. Whitney was based in the "expert" report made by Messrs. Blackman and Aaron Smith to the Blackman and Aaron Smith to the Board of Supervisors.

Both Blackman and Aaron Smith have been to see the County Auditor, and Smith has been besieging the County Auditor and importuning him to pay this claim of Whitney, but County Auditor Lopez has absolutely refused to pay it.

In the report which was the result of Messrs. Blackman and Smith's work over the county books it was shown that Tax Collector Whitney had "short collected" the tax to the amount of $229.11, and "over collected" to the amount of $314.11. The total amount of $324.11. The total amount of tax to be accounted for is $926,050.90, and the amount paid into the treasury by Mr. Whitney was $926,583.72, showing that the Tax Collector has paid to the treasure $532.82 more than he had to account for. The grand jury expert reported a difference of $13.25, thereby reducing Mr. Whitney's balance to $519.57, for which amount he has presented his claim to the County Auditor.

As a cash transaction in the abstract

As a cash transaction in the abstract it might appear that Mr. Whitney was entitled to this amount, but County Auditor Lopez holds that the county is responsible to the tax-payers for the amount of taxes which have been overpaid by them, and that they are entitled to receive the same on demand from the county. He holds that if one of Mr. Whitney's clerks made an error and collected more money from a taxor Mr. Whitney's cierks made an error and collected more money from a tax-payer than the assessment roll called for that is no reason why Mr. Whitney should pocket the proceeds of the transaction, and he proposes to hold this money at the disposal of the tax-this money at the disposal of the tax-payers.

Mr. Whitney cannot over-collect taxes from one man and apply the sum to making up for the short collection of another man's tax.

Another point is that the Tax Collector holds his deputies financially responsible for any "short" collections of taxes and they must make them good out of their salaries.

County Auditor Lopez applied to the "experts," Blackman and Smith, for the names of the tax-payers who had been overcharged in their taxes in order to facilitate the return of the same to them, but these two paid functionaries of the county claimed that the above information, that is, the names bove information, that is, the names of the tax-payers, were their own prithem.

Ex-Tax Collector Whitney yesterday made a formal demand for a warrant for $519.57, and, on being refused by Mr. Lopez, threatened him with a writ of mandate.

PHILLIPS BROOKS.

The Man and the Preacher as Viewed by a Personal Friend.

At the meeting of the Friday Morning Club yesterday, Rev. Henry G.
Spaulding of Boston read, by invitation, a paper on "Phillips Brooks, the Man and the Preacher." The paper was scholarly and interesting, and the large number in attendance felt regret only that a still greater number could not have listened to and profited by it.

Mr. Spaulding was personally acquainted with Dr. Brooks, a graduate of the same college, and familiar with all the events in the great preacher's all the events in the great preacher's public career.

He first noticed Dr. Brooks's puritan ancestry, his boyhood's home in Boston, and his studies at the Latin School and Harvard College. The early influence over his religious nature by the fervent piety of his mother was touched upon. After graduating at Harvard, and from the Episcopal Seminary in Alexandria, Dr. Brooks took up the work of the Christian ministry in Philadelphia in 1859. Ten years, later he became rector of Trinity Church in Boston. In both cities he was an eminent citizen, working on many lines nent citizen, working on many outside his parish. His influence cutside his parish. His influence came chiefly from the greatness of his manhood. This greatness made him also the wonderful preacher that he became, although he was a master of the art of pulpit oratory, and had remarkable gifts, fitting him for the ministerial office.

art of pulpit oratory, and had remarkable gifts, fitting him for the ministerial office.

The speaker took up several points in the style of Dr. Brooks's discourse, and both analyzed and illustrated them. Phillips Brooks was a Broad Churchman, and an able advocate of religious tolerance. He taught that "Salvation is of man, for man and by man," that is, by man as a part of God, the divine life acting from within man's life. He was greater than any contemporary preacher, and in some ways surpassed the eminent preachers of former times. By his noble manhood, his wide and generous sympathles and his complete absorption of the spirit of Christ, he became the servant of all churches, a helper of the religious trust and joy of humanity.

The matter has already been suggested of asking Mr. Spaulding for a repetition of the reading of this paper, which merits wide recognition.
